AttentionLift puts advertising screens in local venues. Businesses pay for screen time. You earn by bringing the right people together.

Bring agency business

Know an agency with business clients?

€125 once per new agency after its first full qualifying payment. Then 10% across its credited clients.

Extra €50 when a new advertiser also first buys and fully pays for an AttentionLift creative. Available on direct or agency business; once per client.

Proposed terms. Your signed agreement controls. Revenue shares exclude VAT, refunds, creative fees and money passed to other ad providers. A client is credited once to its agreed sales route.

02 / SAME RATE. A BIGGER CUSTOMER BASE.

One agency. Several clients.

An agency can bring more than one advertiser. Your 10% follows the paid advertising business credited to you.

ONE AGENCY / THREE ADVERTISERS

a month

3 × €600 paid media a month × 10%

Illustration: three clients, each fully paying €600 a month, give the agency partner €180 monthly commission. Three clients is a planning example, not a measured agency average.

The agency bonus is €125 once, not €125 each month or per client. Each eligible first paid AttentionLift creative can add €50. Agency clients do not also trigger the direct €100 bonus.

Introduced once can mean earning again. If €180 repeats for 12 months, that is €2,160 in ongoing payments. The agreed relationship must stay active and advertising must be paid. It is not guaranteed for life.

Location bonus: independently confirmed, working installation; transfer instructed by the next banking day once billing details are complete. Advertiser, agency and creative bonuses follow full payment under separately agreed terms. Ongoing shares are settled monthly.

Two simulated three-person teams: one person in each role. Hours are per person, across 20 working days a month. Month 36 means three years of continued activity. Figures include one-off bonuses and ongoing commission.

Model scenarios, not typical or past earnings. The model starts with zero venues and clients; each €600 monthly campaign uses 10 venues. It assumes ongoing sales, paid ads and retention. Results may be zero. Figures are before your costs, taxes and social contributions.

A better spot. A stronger offer.

Visibility and screen size change the proposed location bonus. These examples use a 43–54-inch screen.

Quiet visible indoor	€25
Busy indoor	€50
Street-facing window	€75
Premium visible footfall	€100

Screen size changes the bonus too: 32–42 inches $\times 0.8$; 43–54 $\times 1$; 55–64 $\times 1.2$; 65+ $\times 1.4$. Proposed approved-location bonuses range from €20 to €140. Upgrades do not earn a new acquisition bonus.

We approve the spot first. A mall is not automatically premium. Hidden back rooms do not qualify. A window screen must be readable in daylight. We check any required local approvals before street-facing use.

What the owner gets

Think of the screen as a small billboard. Advertisers rent time on it. The owner gets a proposed 25% of the paid media credited to that screen, plus agreed time to promote their own business.

An approved owner TV may work as-is without new equipment or setup charges. Power, internet, other costs and any extra work are agreed first. No paid advertising means no revenue share. Give the owner our Location Guide.
